POST CARD

Thomas Moran is one of our greatest scenic artists and his most notable achievements are American subjects. Two of his masterpieces "The Grand Canyon of Arizona" and "The Yellowstone Canyon" are hung in the National Capitol at Washington.

"Long before Noah fell adrift in the ark or Adam was, forests were growing in Arizona just as in some parts they grow today, and it befell that in the course of time they lay prostrate and over them swept the waters of an inland sea. Eons passed and the sands buried them deep; then the sea vanished and when these ancient logs were uncovered to the sight of a world that had forgotten them, the sybaritic chemistry of nature had transformed every one of them into chalcedony, topaz, carnelian, agate and amethyst."

FROM UTE PASS NEAR WOODLAND PARK, COLORADO

Pikes Peak offers several of its grandest spectacles from Ute Pass along Highway U. S. 24. The traveller from below emerges from the deep cliffs of the lower part of the pass to be confronted with rocky ramparts of Pikes Peak filling the sky in gigantic fashion. If coming from the west, the view is in equal contrast to the green and sweeping valleys just traversed.

Florida Flamingos

Flamingos feeding in pool at Rare Bird Farm, 10 miles south of Miami. For over 100 years rumors have persisted that flamingos have at some time bred in Florida. The spring of 1939 definitely marked the first time, within the knowledge of man, that the flamingo hatched and reared its young on the North American mainland. It feeds, in the wild state, upon small crustaceans and molluscs, which it obtains by loosening the mud below the water with a rapid stamping motion of the feet and sifting the muddy water through the sieve-like structure provided in its bill.

A Florida Memory

A Tribute to THE SINGING TOWER

In a Florida Garden fair to see,
Florida memories come to me.
Beautiful flowers from every bower,
Wonderful music at selected hours,
Choose here the Pathway to Singing Tower,
Just there is beauty for every hour.
High on the hill, 'neath Florida's sky,
Art supreme, stands to greet the eye.
Looming afar, is that sunset of gold
With Florida colors yet to unfold.
Tenderly, birds drop their wings to their side,
Beauty and peace, find this place to abide.
Triumphant,—you leave the view so serene,
You have found yourself—from that "Florida scene."

By a Lover of Beauty, LILLIAN ALLEN.

THE SINGING TOWER

The Singing Tower is located on the highest spot in Florida and is surrounded by beautifully landscaped grounds—The Sanctuary. The Tower is built of Florida coquina stone and Georgia pink marble, weight 5,500 tons, and took over two years to complete. It contains one of the largest and the finest Carillons in the world, consisting of 71 bells, the smallest bell weighing 17 pounds, while the largest weighs 12 tons. This beautiful Sanctuary and wonderful Singing Tower were given to the people by Mr. Edward W. Bok as a symbol of beauty, and as an expression of his thanks to the American Flag. The place has been rightfully called "The Most Beautiful Spot in America."

Land of a Thousand Charms

Fairyland that Nature blest,
Fairer, far, than all the rest;

Land of sunshine, mirth and play,
Loved by all who come your way:

Overhead you wear green trees,
On your breast, the singing seas:

Richer than all Croesus' wealth,
Rich in flowers, fruit and health:

In the incense of your air
Is the wine dispelling care:

During each vacation time
Dreams come true in your sweet clime . . .

All who know your magic glow
Ache to come . . . and hate to go!

Flamingos feeding in pool at Rare Bird Farm, 10 miles south of Miami. For over 100 years rumors have persisted that flamingos have at some time bred in Florida. The spring of 1939 definitely marked the first time, within the knowledge of man, that the flamingo hatched and reared its young on the North American mainland. It feeds, in the wild state, upon small crustaceans and molluscs, which it obtains by loosening the mud below the water, with a rapid stamping motion of the feet and sifting the muddy water through the sieve-like structure provided in its bill

RAINBOW FALLS

This famous waterfall lies a little over a mile from town. One follows Waianuenue Street mauka, until the road forks, when the northerly branch is taken. A few hundred yards beyond the first bridge crossed, makai of the road, lies the park, which has been set aside right by the fall. The legend has it that the goddess Hina lived in the cave under the fall. A dragon, Kuna-moo, tried to drown her by throwing up a dam, makai of the falls. She called for aid to her son, Maui, who was at the time at Haleakala, trying to lasso the sun. He crossed the ocean in his canoe in two strokes (the double rock at the mouth of the river is still called "Maui's canoe") and chased the dragon to the "Boiling Pots," where he threw red-hot stones in the water, scalding the monster, ~~and~~ he finally killed.

CITY PARK,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.—220

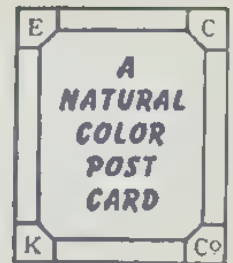

City Park comprises over 1,400 acres, was once included in the plantation of Louis Allard, whose tomb is near the Duelling Oak. The park is a splendid example of landscape gardening art, with a lake, radiating lagoons, and wooded walks, golf links and a polo field; the grove of live oaks is one of the finest known.

FORT McHENRY stands in tribute to those men who fought bravely defending its ramparts during the bombardment of the British Fleet in 1814, and to Francis Scott Key, who at that time was inspired to write the Star Spangled Banner. In 1925 the Government declared Fort McHenry a national park, after having restored it as nearly as possible to its appearance in 1814. Fort McHenry is visited by more than 200,000 persons each year.

"The Star Spangled Banner", the National Anthem of the United States, was written by Francis Scott Key, poet and patriot of Maryland, while detained by the British aboard a ship off Fort McHenry. His inspiration came when in the dawn's early light he saw the nation's flag still waving triumphantly over the fort. The Key Monument in Baltimore is one of the several handsome memorials erected to Key. The original flag is now in the National Museum at Washington.

In Carolina

The roses never bloom out black
 In Carolina;
 The sun has never shoun its back
 To Carolina;
 The roosters get right up and crow,
 And hearts don't beat so very slow,
 For heaven and earth both seem to know it's Carolina.

The days are shorter by an hour
 In Carolina;
 And people are not near so sour
 In Carolina;
 And when I'm ready to cash in,
 Just take me back and I'll begin
 A glad eternity within Old Carolina.

The land is nowhere quite so bare
 In Carolina;
 Nor good things to eat so rare
 In Carolina;
 And if that great and happy land
 That's being made for mortal men,
 Ain't built on Carolind's plan,
 Tain't no good.

G10 STATE CAPITOL BUILDING
SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO

New Mexico is full of colorful contrasts. In size it is the third largest state, but the population is one of the smallest. Although as far south as Mississippi and Alabama its climate, especially in the northern part, is temperate because of the altitude. It has arid deserts and wonderfully fertile land.

Settled by white men long before Plymouth or Jamestown, it is today one of the least "modern" parts of the country. High powered automobiles, on modern highways, flash by wagons drawn by burros. Airplanes fly over cowboys and Indians riding "cayuses". Close by cities with every modern convenience, are found hamlets without running water, electric power — not in the least up to date, but extremely quaint and colorful.

I think our postcards must have crossed. Rec'd yours yesterday. The card from Highland Pk. is lovely. Those cards showing the flowers & different shades of green and certainly very artistic. The picture is lovely & worthy of a frame. I shall get it framed as soon as I get time to go down again - the holidays. I think you never had the Madonna fever as I have. That Matie Dolomosa has long been one of my pets, and I think of you and that Southern Madonna when you would fall a victim to the mother with the baby in her lap & she has a laurel wreath on her head. I believe it was really a study of an artist's wife and child in the South.

30—The Aerating Water Wheel at the Blue Hole
Castalia, Ohio

THE BLUE HOLE, CASTALIA, OHIO. Six miles west of Sandusky, Ohio, on Route 101. The depth of the Blue Hole is unknown. The visible depth is apparently 50 or 60 feet. It finds its source in an underground river and maintains a temperature of 48 degrees, winter and summer. It is not affected by floods or drought. The volume of water flowing from this marvelous spring is seven million gallons daily, sufficient to supply a city of 75,000 population.

Utah Copper Mine, of the Kennecott Copper Company, is located about 30 miles southwest of Salt Lake City in Bingham Canyon, Utah. The mine is a theater-like quarry covering approximately 855 acres. Ore is mined by 42 electric shovels with dippers of 10 tons capacity. Normal daily tonnage (ore and waste) is 180,000 tons. There are 2,200 employees at the mine and 2,100 at the mills. It uses sixty-two 75-ton electric locomotives and 156 miles of standard gauge railroad track. Height of the mountain above the pit is 1,950 feet. At no place in the world is power shoveling and moving of rock done on such an extensive scale.

DRAPER'S MOUNTAIN, VIRGINIA

To the South and West lies Draper's Valley, named for John Draper, who settled here in 1765. He moved hence from Draper's Meadows (Blacksburg) where his wife was captured by the Indians in the Massacre of 1755. Six years later Draper ransomed her. He served as an officer in the Point Pleasant Indian Expedition in 1774.

Humpback Bridge on Midland Trail, near Covington, Va.

114159-N

OLD HUMPBACK BRIDGE

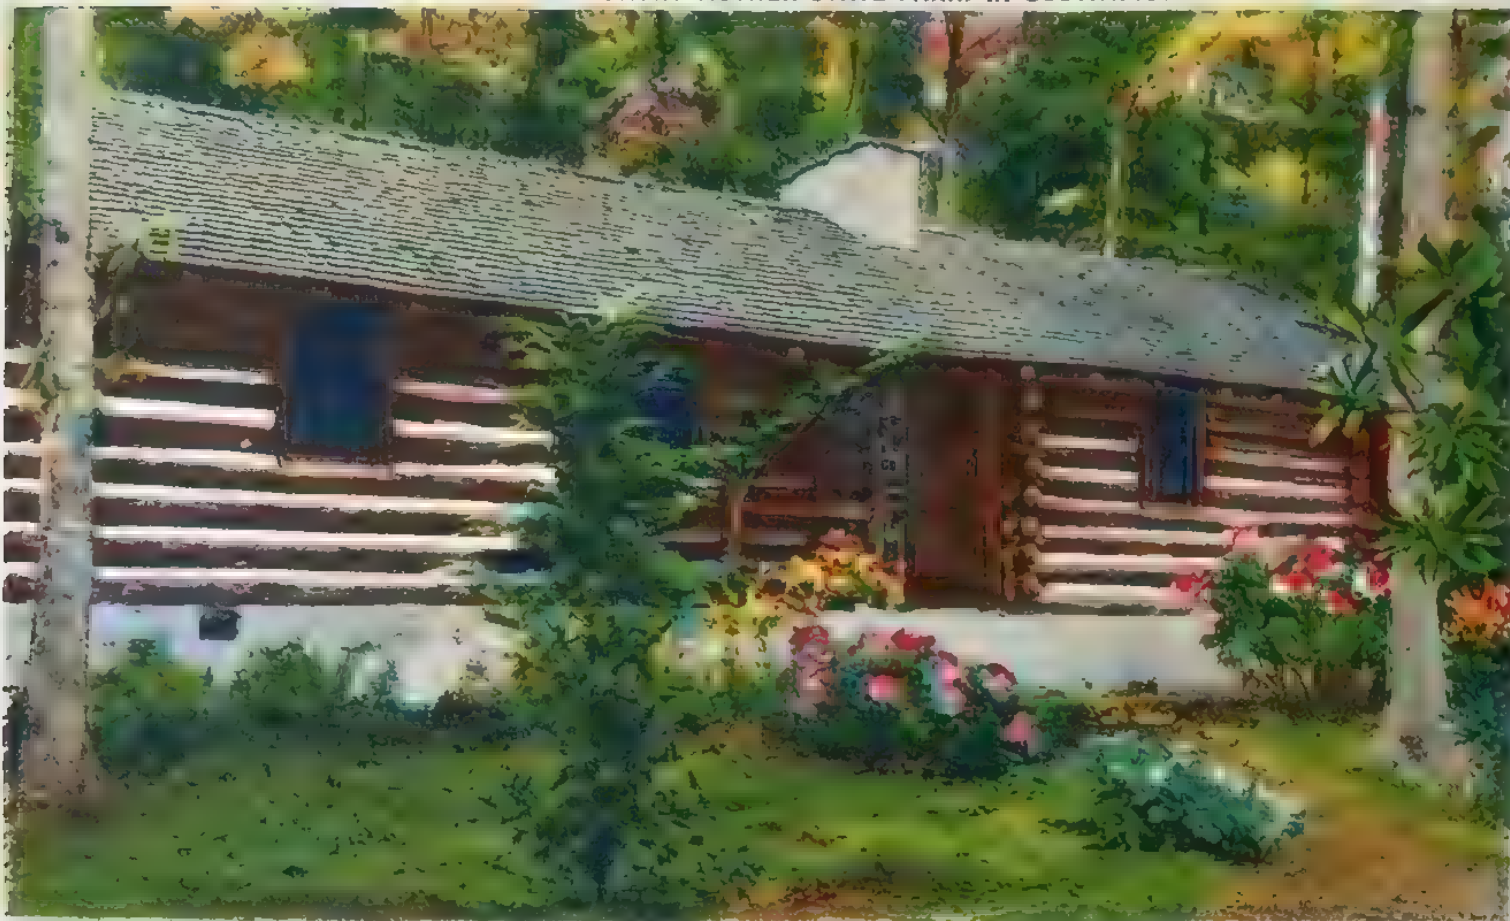

One of the most interesting things that catches the eye of the tourists, as they pass through the Alleghany Mountains of Virginia, is the Old Humpback Bridge, which is located near Covington, Va., on the Midland Trail, from Hot Springs, Va., to White Sulphur. It was built in the year 1842 by the pioneers who settled in Alleghany County, and stands today a memorial to their wonderful skill in bridge building. This bridge is constructed of hewn oak, and is held together by heavy locust pins. Thousands of automobiles and heavy trucks pass over this bridge yearly, and it promises to last many more years, as it is considered by contractors to be one of the strongest wooden bridges in Alleghany County.

IN OLD VIRGINIA

I love the mountains wreathed in mist,
The twilight skies of amethyst,

The groves of ancient oaks sun-kissed
In Old Virginia.

I love the gorgeous trumpet flowers,
Wild rose and honeysuckle bowers,
The woodland incense after showers
In Old Virginia.

I love the laughter of the rills,
Cloud shadows stretched athwart the hills,
The jocund sound of him who tills
In Old Virginia.

I love the martial ranks of corn,
Their blades agleam with lights of morn
The curtains of the night withdrawn
In Old Virginia.

I love the Ocean's deep toned roar,
Surf-lashed to foam on wind-swept shore,
The spray-born rainbow arching o'er
In Old Virginia.

I love the modest maidenhood,
The deference paid to womanhood,
The chivalric and gentle blood
In Old Virginia.

I love the love of native sod,
The simple faith that trusts in God,
The heads bowed neath the chastening rod,
In Old Virginia.

VIRGINIA MILITARY INSTITUTE
"THE WEST POINT OF THE SOUTH"
LEXINGTON, VIRGINIA

Founded in 1839, Virginia Military Institute has long been recognized as a splendid school. Stonewall Jackson, a professor there, became the military genius of the Confederacy. The services of the V. WASHINGTON AND LEE UNIVERSITY was founded originally in 1749. In 1776 its name was changed to Liberty Hall Academy and in 1798, it was formally adopted and endowed by George Washington, and by him authorized to bear his name as his gift to the new republic. At the close of the Civil War, the presidency of this institution was offered to Robert E. Lee. He served until his death in 1870, and subsequently the name was changed to Washington and Lee University. In the chapel in these grounds General Lee's remains and those of his family have been placed.

WASHINGTON'S OFFICE, WINCHESTER, VIRGINIA. After Gen. Braddock's defeat (July 1755) by the French and Indians near Fort Duquesne, Lieut.-Col. George Washington was given command of the colonial forces on the frontier. Washington then built Fort Loudoun at Winchester, and while supervising this work (1756-7) he occupied the building shown above. During this time three companies of Virginia troops were quartered within a stockade built upon the lot to the southward. Prior to the French and Indian War (1749-53) Washington had used this building as an office while employed by Lord Fairfax as a surveyor.

HARPER'S FERRY AND THE CIVIL WAR

Of the many places that were in a constant state of siege during the Civil War, Harper's Ferry suffered most heavily. The Government arsenal and armories located there were destroyed by Federal Troops to prevent their capture by the Confederates. These buildings were erected sometime after the Revolutionary War, and it was there that many of the old flint lock rifles were made that were used in the War of 1812.

met me at the station - spent even when I did & Dean one at the station - spent true with them - they took me for a long ride to & back - delightful was so glad to just returned with Deane.
We are certainly a fine manand just returned with Deane.

"In Wyoming"

Have you ever seen the sunrise on the high and rolling plain?
Did you ever smell wet sagebrush after sudden springtime rain?
Have you ever felt the smart and sting of gravel in your face?
Then you've never known the glamour of that God-forsaken place,
Wyoming!

Have you ever seen the skyline when the evening shadows fall,
Find the mountains look like cardboard, and you hear the Coyotes call?
Have you seen the Painted Bad Lands, in their yellow, red and blue?
Then you'll never know how lonesome life can be until you do,
In Wyoming!

Have you seen the sand and sagebrush, while down the hills,
Along the draws the cooling shadows lay?
It's lonesome, and it's desolate, it's off the beaten track,
But once you've caught the lure of it,
you're homesick 'til you're back,
In Wyoming!

AC-909 ONE OF THE MANY CURVES ON HIGHWAY THROUGH GREAT SMOKY MOUNTAINS NATIONAL PARK

One of the greatest of Nature's displays is the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, the largest national park in Eastern America.

This park straddles the high ridge of the Great Smoky Mountains range which forms the boundary between North Carolina and Tennessee. Within its borders there are many mountain peaks over a mile high, deep ravines, precipitous cliffs, waterfalls and numerous mountain streams.
